

Turbo News 38 Spring Summer 2000 by Denis Roubien: A Blast from the Past

Turbo News was a groundbreaking fashion magazine that pushed the boundaries of creativity and innovation. Founded in 1996 by Denis Roubien, the magazine quickly gained a reputation for its avant-garde aesthetic and its ability to spot emerging talent. Turbo News 38, the magazine's spring/summer 2000 issue, is a testament to Roubien's unique vision and his commitment to showcasing the most cutting-edge fashion photography.

The issue features a diverse range of photographers, including Juergen Teller, Inez & Vinoodh, and Ellen von Unwerth. Each photographer brings their own unique style to the issue, but they are all united by their shared commitment to pushing the boundaries of fashion photography. The result is a visually stunning collection of images that capture the essence of the early 2000s.

One of the most striking things about Turbo News 38 is its use of color. The issue is awash in bright, vibrant colors, from the neon greens and yellows of Juergen Teller's images to the deep blues and reds of Inez & Vinoodh's work. This use of color creates a sense of energy and excitement that is perfectly in keeping with the spirit of the early 2000s.

Another notable aspect of Turbo News 38 is its focus on youth culture. The issue features a number of young models, many of whom were just starting out in their careers. These models represent the future of fashion, and their presence in the issue gives it a sense of freshness and vitality.

Turbo News 38 is a must-have for anyone interested in fashion photography or the early 2000s. It is a visually stunning collection of images that captures the spirit of a time and place. If you can find a copy, be sure to pick it up.
